HIGHLIGHTS OF LIFE

On September 30, 1940 Mary and Mack Washington, Jr. was blessed to give birth to their baby girl, Cora Mae. Living in Hempstead Texas in Waller County, the two enjoyed parenting little Cora Mae.

She attended the Waller Count School District where she graduated from Sam Schwartz High School. Following graduation she attended Beauty School and after completion opened her own salon in Hempstead, Texas. Having enjoyed working with her clients for many years in Hempstead, she relocated to Plano, Texas where she continued to work in cosmetology. She was also employed by Texas Transformer located in Plano, Texas for many years.

Cora Mae accepted Christ while she was still young, and remained a faithful Christian which was obvious by here steadfast dedication to God and to Greater New Birth Baptist Church.

Ms. Cora Washington went home to be with the Lord on January 5, 2013 after undergoing many health challenges.

Those family members who transitioned from labor to reward before her include her parents, Mack Washington and Mary Bell Washington as well as one brother, Manuel Washington.

Those who will often reflect on here memory include her four children, Byron E. (Michelle) Washington, Sr., Craig A. (Tonya) Washington, Sr., Derrick (Inga) Washington, Sr., and Joel S. (LaKasha) Brown. Ten grandchildren, Demeisha Reese, Aramis Washington, Destiny Washington, Craig D. Washington, Cristanette Washington, Byron E. Washington, Jr., Alysha Washington, Derrick Washington, Jr., Ja'Quay Brown, Joel S. Brown, II, and Joelyn Clark. Six great grandchildren and two Daughters in Christ, Donna Washington and Deatrice Washington. No one can count the vast number of other relatives, friends and love ones.
